IN CASE OF EVACUATION

At the time of your arrival you were given a strip of rubalise (If this is not the case or you have lost it, you must absolutely claim it) it is very valuable because in case of evacuation and only in case of evacuation it saves us time, she us informs you that you have left your pitch or mobile home for safety.

-For mobile homes, you must absolutely hang it in the middle of the railing face au mobil home.

- for pitches in a place clearly visible from the path either at the entrance to the awning, tent or caravan if there is no awning.

1: On your arrival : check on the maps that you will find at the reception, in the sanitary facilities or at the bar the direction of evacuation as well as the meeting points.

2: Anyone with reduced mobility must report to reception.

3: In the event of a pre-alert: management will notify you in advance and will have triggered its security plan at the same time(cps). Namely that it remains the sole decision-maker with the town hall to evacuate the campsite, and this according to the information constantly relayed by the competent authorities and security checkpoints that it has on the campsite. Don't trust the media or campers, don't panic! They are not as competent as management, worse they could put you in a bad position. Their sources are often erroneous and transformed.

4 : The pre-alert can be presented in two ways:

-The first : by switching on the entire light terminal that you find in the paths and the central reservation throughout the campsite, not to be confused with the solar LEDS.

- The second : by a gathering at the bar for which you will be notified verbally or by voice message

5: If the pre-alert is launched and the light terminals are activated: you are asked to park your vehicle outside the campsite in the two car parks in the starting position. Do not block vehicles around you or obstruct their exits and entrances. Always leave free access to the outside for emergency services.

6: In the event of a pre-alert : never leave your pitch or never change pitch without having notified and made the request to the manager.

7: Gather your papers and precious objects

8: On the day of the evacuation : the sirens of the campsite will sound or a message will be broadcast, not to be confused with the howlers represented by the yellow dots on the map. You will have to head calmly towards the exit, towards the regrouping point, from there you will be taken to the cooperative cellar, for those who do not know it it is at the roundabout of Massillargues Attuech and from there you will be taken care of to direct you to the town hall.

A walk in sight? Do not hesitate to ask for a map of the surroundings or advice on the colorful places of the region.

Do not hesitate to call on us in all circumstances, we are here to make you spend pleasant holidays, and wish you a wonderful stay in our little paradise!
